Geoffrey Charlton Adams

XVI Auction Sale...

OFFICE OF

Geoffrey Charlton Adams

NUMISMATIST

New York City, U. S. A.

Dear Sir: Once again we solicit your bids for the coins, medals, etc., contained in this, our XXVI Auction Sale, that we have held in New York, confident that among the several hundred lots you will, one and all, find something of interest to you. The one drawback to our business is that the demand is greater by far than the supply, and it keeps us hustling to get people into the idea of selling at least a portion of their hoarded treasures, so that the many recruits to the Numismatic Army can be able to secure what they want. By the by, something is coming off very shortly that will be, we think, of great benefit to us and probably to you; it may be in May and possibly not till September, but at any rate we may let you in on it, to a limited extent, providing you feel like it. Combination and expansion seem to be the watchwords of trade in these enlightened days and our business is no exception to the rule. And we want to say also that the "Coin Cabinet" still waves its little flag of red and will continue to wave it when some of its competitors shall be mouldering in dust, "unwept, unhonored and unsung."

Very truly yours,

GEOFFREY CHARLTON ADAMS.
